For example, in The News Record of Tararua Construction (Torrens) Ltd v Langham, the appellant urged that he had a right to cross-examine a purchaser in court on the issue of his knowledge of the value of the ironware. In dismissing this, the Court said in part, “No doubt if the matter were to be referred to as ‘knowledge’ or ‘information’ which he has a duty to disclose to the appellants, the authorities would be better, but it does not fit into that category. The cases seem to concur that where the risk is affected by knowledge, whether of fact or of law, the term knowledge, as here used, has a technical meaning, referring to information which the law requires to be disclosed or communicated to the beneficiary”. .
